MCWHORTER SCHOOL OF BUILDING SCIENCE GOLF OUTING

Organized by Sigma Lambda Chi – IOTA Chapter

Please join us at the Auburn University Club to support the Building Science Program. Your generosity and support provides opportunities to award scholarships, personal protection equipment for our students and SLX activities throughout the year. The event is a great time to meet students, connect with faculty and reconnect with fellow alums and industry leaders. Last year, 120+ participated in the event. We look forward to seeing you.

SLX GOLF OUTING SUPPORTS PPE

124 participated in the event

On September 30, 2014, the IOTA Chapter of Sigma Lambda Chi at the McWhorter School of Building Science organized a golf outing at the Auburn University Club. Associate Professor Keith Rahn and Student Chairperson Garrett Smith organized the event.

"This is the second year that the event has been held in the fall," said Rahn. "The golf club was just the ideal setting for the 124 students, alumni, faculty, company recruiters, and industry representatives to mingle a day before the career expo. It gave employers and students another opportunity to network."

According to Rahn, the proceeds from the outing will provide PPE (Personal Protection Equipment) to new students entering the professional program. The PPE includes hard hats, safety vests, and safety glasses.

IOTA is the Building Science chapter of the international Honor Society for construction students.

SLC bestows a monetary Ethics Award to a peer-selected and faculty-approved PC3 student at the Spring BSCI Awards event.
